Read the following passage, then answer the questions that follow:

There are many different kinds of parrots. Some are quite big; others are very small. They are believed to be one of the most intelligent bird species. Most parrot species depend on seeds as food. Others may eat fruit, nectar, flowers or small insects. Many people like them because they often have beautiful bright colours, and because they can "talk". Most parrots are social birds that live in groups.

Parrots are very good mimics and can copy sounds that they hear in their environment; they can even copy human words and laughter. No one knows why parrots can talk. Most birds can not. Some people say that parrots can talk because they have big, thick tongues. Parrots do not usually know what they are saying when they talk. They are only making sounds. However, they know when to say some words, such as "Hello" and "Goodbye".

Most parrots come from hot countries, but they can live anywhere. This is one of the reasons why sailors used to take parrots with them on long journeys. Perhaps another reason is that they wanted someone to talk to.
