Vegetarianism is the practice of following a plant-based diet with or without the inclusion of dairy and eggs. For much of the world, vegetarianism is largely a matter of economics. In some countries, people often choose to be vegetarians for reasons other than cost. Parental preferences, personal, and health issues are among the most common reasons for choosing to be a vegetarian. Many people choose a vegetarian diet out of concern over animal rights or the environment.

Different people follow different forms of vegetarianism. A true vegetarian eats no meat, chicken or fish. A lacto-ovo vegetarian eats dairy products and eggs, but excludes meat, fish, and chicken. It follows, then, that a lacto vegetarian eats dairy products but not eggs, whereas an ovo vegetarian eats eggs but not dairy products. Veganism is another kind that excludes animal products, dairy products and honey.

Following a vegetarian diet could lead to nutritional deficiencies in some people. Teens need to include enough protein and calcium to grow. So, vegetarians have to be careful to include the following key nutrients that may be lacking in a vegetarian diet: Iron, calcium, protein, and vitamins such as vitamin D, vitamin B12 and zinc. If meat, fish, dairy products, or eggs are not going to be part of your diet, you will need to know how to get enough of these nutrients, or you may need to take daily multiple vitamins and mineral supplements.

Believe it or not, there are tons of advantages of becoming a vegetarian. If you intend to follow one, you should consider many things. With a little education and a firm commitment to your new lifestyle, you will be a happy and healthy vegetarian in no time. Educate yourself about how to have a well-balanced vegetarian diet with plenty of protein. Be prepared for questions from friends and family and decide how you will handle holidays. Have a plan for eating out, learn to read labels, and explore new cooking dishes. Most of all, be patient with yourself and the loved ones around you as you make the transition to eating meat-free meals. Also, you should consult a dietitian before following a vegetarian lifestyle. Over time, you will find a rhythm in your new way of life.

VII - Summary Making (8 Marks)

Read the following passage, then do as required:

A flood is an overflow of water onto land that is normally dry. Floods can happen almost anywhere. They can cover an area with just a few inches of water. Floods can occur due to several different factors. However, one of the biggest causes of floods, is heavy rainfall. Sea overflow can also cause floods in an event known as a storm flow. This occurs during storms and hurricanes. In addition, fast melting of snow causes a flood because blocks of melting ice could stop the flow of a river. Dam failures and damage can also send a powerful and destructive flow of water downriver.

In a paragraph of FOUR sentences ONLY, summarise and paraphrase the previous passage in answer to the following question: (8 Marks)
