- Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Some people are driven by curiosity. They love to ask questions. They want to understand how everything works. This is the case with Dr. Mae Jemison. Ever since she was young, she always had the mind of a scientist. Mae was born in the year 1956 in Alabama. Her family moved to Chicago a few years later. That way, she, her brothers, and her sister got a better education. Her father worked as a roofer and a carpenter. Her mother was a school teacher. Both her parents encouraged their children to keep learning and follow their dreams. Mae's mother even helped her do experiments. Mae enjoyed that very much because this is the thing she always wanted.

Mae was born with a love to learn. She graduated from high school with good marks. Then, she got a degree in engineering. But Mae didn't want to study or do just one thing. She wanted to try many things. She chose to study medicine next. She quickly became a doctor. In 1983, she joined the Peace Corps and worked as a medical officer in Africa for over two years. After this, Mae moved to Los Angeles and worked as a doctor. She enjoyed her job, yet she still had the childhood dream of going to space. She joined the NASA and became an astronaut in 1992. She became the first African American woman to go to space. She remained in space for a total of eight days. Shortly after her trip to space, she changed her career and worked as a teacher at Dartmouth College.
