One cold rainy afternoon, Hessa and her sister, Fatima saw that their room was very messy and needed to be tidied. Toys were all over the floor, books were not in the right place and their clothes were everywhere. Their mother had told them many times to clean up their room. So, they finally decided to work on the mess together. First, they picked up all the toys and put them in a big box. Hessa said they should have put the toys into groups, so they put the dolls in one place and the bears in another. Next, Hessa carefully put the books back on the shelf, putting the big ones together and the small ones together. During that time, Fatima put their shoes in the closet and arranged them by colour. After that, they cleaned the dust from the furniture, making sure to clean every little corner. Once the room looked cleaner, they made their beds and fixed the pillows. Finally, they vacuumed the floor to clean up the dirt and little pieces of food.

When their mother came in, she smiled and told them they did a great job. She felt proud of their hard work and was surprised at how much better the room looked.
