There are red tomatoes, green beans, and bright orange carrots. His grandmother's garden has many tools such as a garden fork, a small bucket, a garden hose and a watering can.

One morning, Grandmother said, "The plants are very thirsty. Will you help me water them?" She gave Leo a small watering can. "Be gentle, just like soft rain," she told him. Leo walked slowly down each row. He poured water near the roots of every plant. Then, he saw a big, green worm on a leaf. "Grandmother, look! It is eating our plant!" he shouted. His grandmother came to look. She smiled. "Don't worry," she said. "That worm is a friend. It makes the soil healthy for our vegetables." Leo was happy to hear that.
